

Did you know that most T-shirts you buy at stores are actually toxic? It's true. The dyes used to color the T-shirt you may be wearing right now are made from chemicals that are highly poisonous to the environment. Infectious Tees uses a water-based dye on our T-shirts that's safe and nontoxic. We'll even print on all-natural organic cotton fabric if you want to be sure that your order is completely eco-friendly. It's not that difficult to do your part to save the environment.

We believe that a positive and creative work environment will lead to a quality product.

We believe that it is our responsibility to provide our customers with T-shirts that are printed with environmentally sound materials.

We believe that customer satisfaction is one of the most effective measures of our success as a company.
